FinBoard
· 1 unofficial complaint to the SAO over a comic · They were told to go to Title IX funding o Decided to not fund when they didn't go to Title IX coordinator about this issue o After initial complaint: we don't feel it is in our place to enforce anything that comes to us through an "unofficial complaint" · ASA does not dictate FinBoard policy · What is the method for submitting an official complaint?
o Ani not sure, would have probably gone through the TitleIX director on this issue.
· Ani fine with funding them, Jonte's reasoning was that we shouldn't be funding things that target other students.
o Even a formal complaint wouldn't require any action · ASA has no real power to compel this organization to do any trainings, FinBoard probably does have this power · Only reason we're enforcing this because the previous UA had set it o Avoid question of "was this right" · VooDoo would say "there was no agreement" but the UA made it explicitly clearly.

NomBoard
· We will discuss later. Not a resolved situation. Stay tuned!

Education:
· Maybe coming down the pipeline:
o 3.091 no class conflict policy
§ Student got an exception for a course that was videotaped § Current guidelines don't allow for this policy § Going to bring this up as a rule possibly o Changing rules and regs § Doubt it would happen
§ Affects autonomy of professors

Institute Committees · How do we increase the participation in them?
o Wants to increase percentage of students that apply from 2-3% to 5%
o GSC uses adds at beginning of nominations process o We're at the low end of "having enough" people
o Isaac has a bizarre computer science engagement idea

- o What about using study breaks?
- § Occurs in April, Chief of Staff checked out in past
- o Buy adds in the tech if all else fails
- · What we do now
- o Email every April, says "apply, here's why"
- o Get 70-150 people applying
- o Interview all
- o Assign to committees
- o Ends by beginning of June
- o Some people bail over Summer, and then class conflicts
- o Then figure out if it's an urgent opening or not
- o Backlog of people from applications process

Other:
- · Discussing Title IX at Council with deans and admins
- · PR will host a study break
- o Patrick wants to do outreach
- · Possibly having UA Newsletter
- o Everyone else wants to do this in the Tech
- o Cory thinks this shouldn't be a physical copy
- o We should look into the Anno (run by the GSC)
